Dommerudtalelse:

You can see the difference in this group, the difference between father and mother because there are 2 types. You can see brother and sister are related, very similar in types. Nice proportions. Still lightly boned. The other two bitches are a bit similar but you can see the difference between the two bitches, they are a bit lighter build. Still all are very good types. I saw they are all good movers with very characteristic for the breed, very lightly and springly. All have very good ears, some could be thinner but still okay. That's good for the breed. Also very nice tail carriage for the breed, very typical. I think the breeder did a good job.
